We import only new-crop coffee and keep both consistent core coffees and seasonal microlots from different origins in stock.

How we work

We import directly

We import coffee directly from 10+ countries, without going through traders, European warehouses, or intermediaries.

We import only coffee we trust

We do not import just any coffee on request. We work only with our long-term partners and with coffees we know and trust.

We maintain inventory

We keep our core range in stock year-round, while microlots arrive seasonally from each country immediately after the harvest.

We keep our prices fair

We do not use debt financing and grow exclusively with our own funds, so our coffee prices do not include bank interest costs.

We control the entire process

We ship all our coffee directly to the ports of St. Petersburg and Novorossiysk and then transport it to Moscow, where it is stored in specialized green coffee warehouses.

We automate our operations

We have automated our processes so that any task can be completed in just a few clicks, 24/7, without having to contact a manager. The customer portal provides real-time information on the availability, prices, and descriptions of every lot.

Three ways to buy

1

Order as little as one bag from stock

The minimum order is one unit of packaging — either one bag or one box.

2

Reserve in advance

Use our convenient stock reservation service to plan strategically and secure the supply volumes you need.

3

Order containers

Enter into contracts for direct container shipments from the country of origin early in the harvest season, and we will help you choose the coffee.

A convenient customer portal

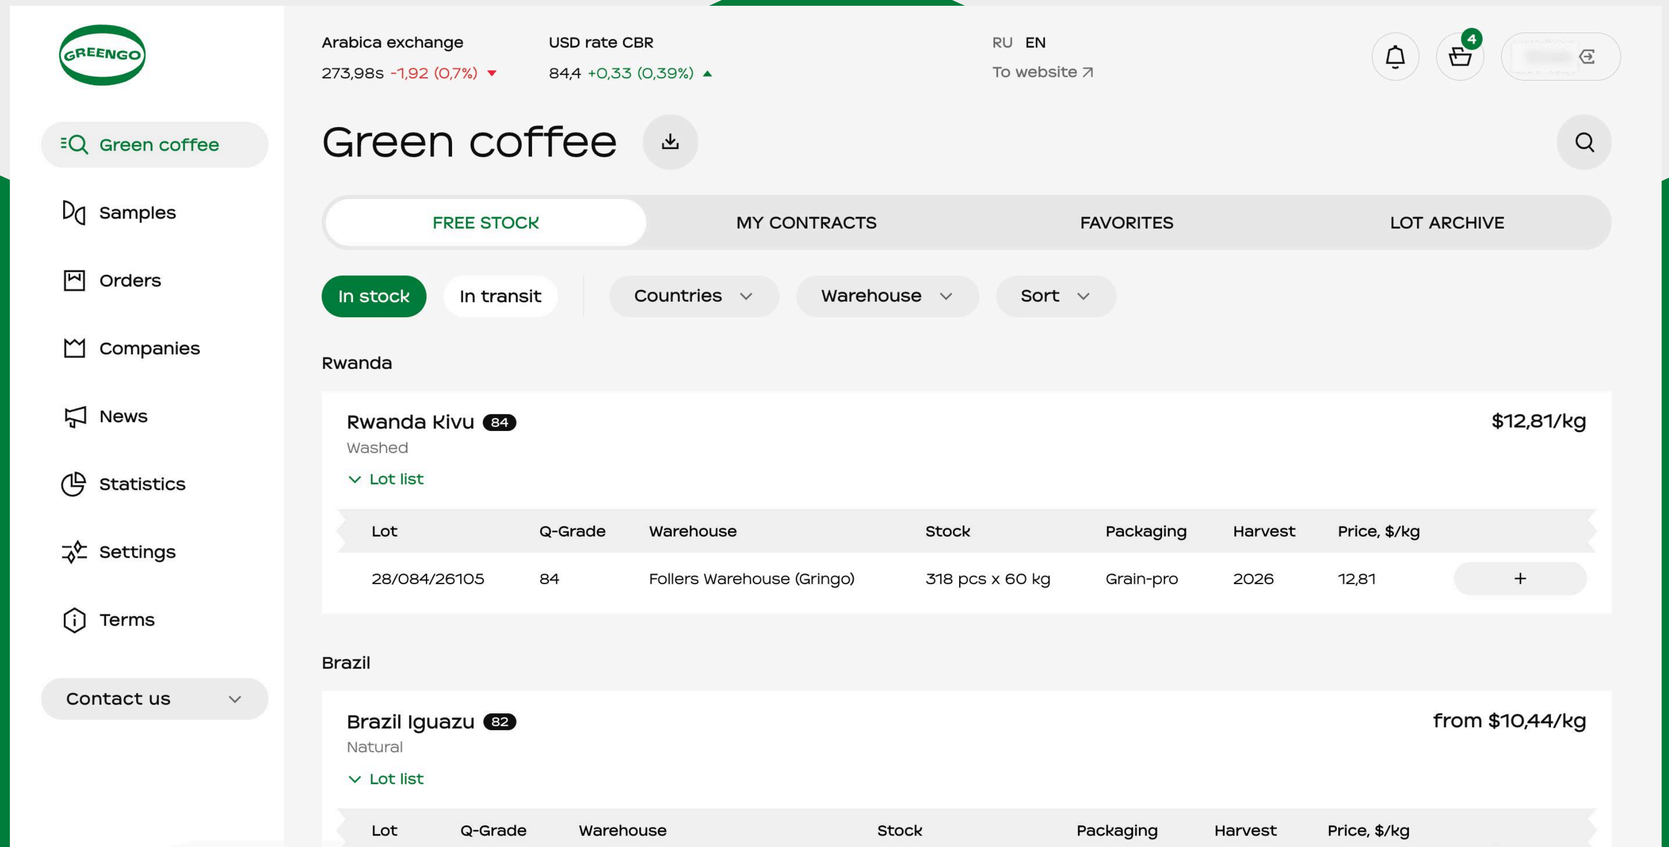

Real-time availability, prices, and descriptions for every lot

Place orders in just a few clicks, 24/7, without contacting a manager

Invoices, certificates, and supporting documents in the “Orders” section

Electronic document exchange through an electronic document management system

Prices in US dollars, with payment in Russian rubles at the Bank of Russia exchange rate

Free green coffee samples

Once you have registered for an account in the customer portal, you can order five free 200 g samples. After that, you can receive five samples with every order. We will ship the samples free of charge via CDEK.

Six steps to your first shipment

1

Complete the registration form — your customer portal login details will be sent to you by email.

2

Log in to the customer portal and add your company details.

3

Place an order and receive an invoice.

4

Pay the invoice in Russian rubles at the Bank of Russia exchange rate.

5

Send us a power of attorney authorizing pickup of the goods.

6
